CHAMPIONSHIP LINKS COURSES

CHALLENGING GREENS!

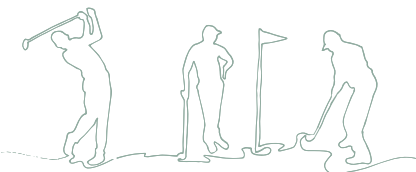

White Cliffs Country – Dover, Deal and Sandwich and home to Kent's Golf Coast, has been recognised as one of the best places in England to enjoy playing golf. In fact all three of the links golf courses in this unique staycation destination were ranked in the top 30 in England, by Golf World's Top 100 rankings and featured in Today's Golfer magazine in 2019, with Royal St George's taking the top spot.

Our four courses have been meticulously designed with course designers including James Braid and Martin Ebert with this beautiful coastal landscape at the heart of their designs. These challenging golf courses are ideal for any golfing aficionado and three of them have hosted The Open, making White Cliffs Country the perfect place to enjoy golf.

The Open Golf first came to White Cliffs Country in 1894 when the championship was hosted at Royal St George's which marked their first occasion out of Scotland.

Away from the fairways, there is plenty to do and see. With great walking and cycling routes, unspoilt coastline, beaches and countryside, why not take the time to explore more before playing the round.

Royal St George's Golf Club

White Cliffs Country is proud to host The 149th Open at Royal St George's Golf Club in Sandwich, from 11th to 18th July 2021.

Royal St George's Golf Club has hosted many major tournaments in addition to the Open Championship, for both Amateur and Professional golfers. Situated in Sandwich, it offers a famously challenging 18-hole course, with stunning sea views over Pegwell and Sandwich Bay. Golfers can enjoy beautiful surroundings and stunning sea views, making this the perfect backdrop to a challenging game on one of Britain's finest links golf courses.

As a links course, the wind creates challenging conditions, with every hole being very different and memorable. Ian Fleming was a member at Royal St George's, and it is said that the fictional golf club 'Royal St Marks' in the 1959 novel 'Goldfinger' is largely based on Royal St George's.

The club has hosted The Open Championship 14 times and will be welcoming The 149th Open back for the 15th time in July 2021.

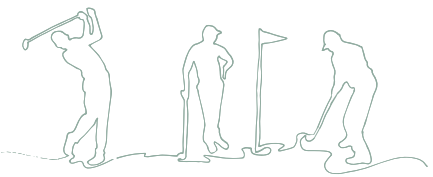

THE 149TH OPEN

It will be the 15th time this world-class sporting event has been held at Royal St George's Golf Club and the 18th time The Open Championship has been held in White Cliffs Country. Played on links courses (areas of coastal sand dunes), The Open is the most historic competition in golf and draws the world's best players to compete for the famous Claret Jug.

Prince's Golf Club

Prince's Golf Club is a classic championship links golf club and former venue for the Open Championship.

The present day 27-hole layout is the result of a 1950 re-design following wartime damage to the original course. This allows the course to be played in three loops of nine holes, known as 'Shore', 'Dunes' and 'Himalaya', each starting and finishing beside the new centrally located clubhouse. Finally opening in 1985 by Peter Allis, the layout incorporates 17 of the original greens and eliminated any blind tee or approach shots.

Notable for hosting the 1932 Open Championship, which was won by the American Gene Sarazen, Prince's is the only club to host The Open just once. Nowadays the club remains a firm favourite for The Open Championship Local Final Qualifying course.

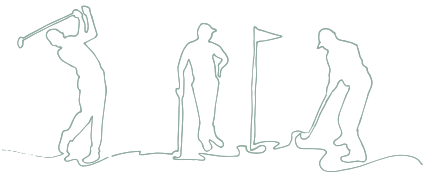

Conveniently situated at the entrance of Prince's, The Lodge has 38 bedrooms and includes well-appointed rooms and some lavish apartments and suites. All rooms have great views of either Sandwich Bay or overlook the golf course. The 2AA Rosette, Brasserie on the Bay has a wide range of high quality, locally sourced food and is the perfect place for a bite to eat.

Royal Cinque Ports Golf Club

The Championship Links course has classic out and back layout to the highest standard.

Consistently ranked in the top 50, the well-presented playing surface at Deal is firm and undulating, challenging players' skills with steep bunkers and, of course, a sea breeze! Charl Schwartzel (Brabazon 2002 Winner) once described Royal Cinque Ports Golf Course as having "Fine tight fast running fairways, and consistent greens both true and fast and a wind to test one's skill and judgement to the full".

With its fast rolling fairways and superbly kept greens, the course is one of the finest traditional links courses in the UK. In a prevailing wind, the last seven holes are reputed to be amongst the toughest in golf!

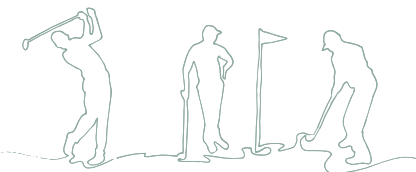

Host to The Open Championship in 1909 and 1920, the club is a final qualifying course for The Open whilst recently the club jointly hosted the English Amateur and British Seniors Championships in 2007 and 2008 respectively.

Since 1924, Royal Cinque Ports has been home every year to the Halford Hewitt Public Schools Championship which is the largest amateur tournament in the world.

Walmer & Kingsdown Golf Club

Known as the 'Club on the Cliffs'
Walmer & Kingsdown Golf Club has amazing views from every hole.

Perched high up on the edge of the famous White Cliffs this unique location offers stunning sea views across the channel and a fantastic course with challenges for all abilities. The renowned course designer James Braid created the open downland course around the natural landscape incorporating a sharp ridge and steep valley leading to panoramic views of its unique location. The course benefits from rapid drainage courtesy of its position on the chalk cliffs, making it playable all year round.

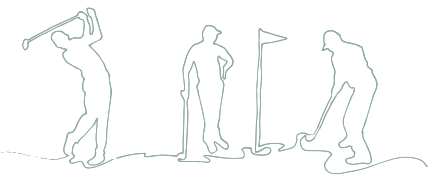

The course officially opened in 1909 with a match between two of the world's best-known players of their era, course designer James Braid and Harry Vardon – both Open Championship winners. In December 1948 the two benefactors registered the club as a members club and handed the ownership to the members, to be run as a club for the community.
